

Anna Witkowska, PhD, is currently a participant of postgraduate studies on distributed energy sources and energy storage at AGH University of Science and Technology. Expert at the Ignacy Lukaszewicz Institute for Energy Policy, member of a working group in the Polish Hydrogen Alliance, and expert in working group Innovation implementation in the business environment in European Technology & Innovation Platform Smart Networks for Energy Transition (ETIP SNET). A graduate of the Jagiellonian University and holder of a scholarship at the University of Duisburg-Essen in Germany). Author of scientific publications, analyses and expert reports in the field of energy transition and energy security policy with a focus on the European area, German-speaking countries and the Visegrad Group.

Contact: awitkowska@instytutpe.pl