Γ

2. Final examination

- 2.1. Pre-study requirements for the final exams (conditions for admission tot he final exam):
 - Obtaining 90 credits as set out in this training plan.
- 2.2. The condition for admission to the final examination is the acquisition of a final certificate (absolutorium). A final certificate is issued by the higher education institution to a student who has fulfilled the study and examination requirements prescribed in the curriculum and has acquired the required credits.
- 2.3. Parts of the final examination For students starting their studies in September 2025, the final examination consists of three parts:
 - 1. Thesis (diploma work) defense;
 - 2. Successfully answering international trade and investment law exam questions;
 - 3. Successfully answering exam questions on European trade and investment law.
- 2.4. Final exam results: The degree is graded based on the average of the grades in the compulsory and optional subjects, the thesis defense, and the results of the oral final exam. The final grade is calculated by an algorithm.

3. Entrance and language requirements

For the specialist lawyer training, we are looking for applicants who have obtained at least law BA degree. At least an intermediate, complex English language exam and active language skills are required, which will be measured during an admission interview.

4. Obtaining credits and their sources

a. Obtaining credits: The 90 credits in the training plan must be obtained from the indicated sources as follows:

Compulsory courses	Basic knowledge	27
	Professional core material	16
Elective courses		17
Final thesis		30
In sum		90 credits

b. The subjects serving as the source of credits are announced in the curriculum each semester and can be enrolled and completed under the conditions specified in the training plan and the curriculum.

5. Qualification of the degree

The diploma is graded based on the average of the grades of the compulsory and optional courses, the thesis defense and the results of the oral final exam. The final grade is calculated by an algorithm. Example of calculation: Grades of the compulsory and optional courses: 4 (average), grade of the thesis: 5, grade of the oral final exam: 4: 4+5+4/3=4.33.

6. Other provisions

- a. The Dean or the Vice Dean for Education Affairs issues a recommended curriculum to students, within the framework of the training plans, which recommends continuing the training with a number of credits between 27-33 per semester, taking into account the academic prerequisites.
- b. A student may take up to a maximum of 45 credits in a semester in their major. Additional credit excess may be permitted by the Academic Committee – in justified cases, based on individual consideration.
- c. This training plan shall apply from the first semester of the 2022/2023 academic year.
